

Special lecture

40 Years Since the Entry into Force of the CEDAW

The Role of the Higher Education System in Implementing Gender Equality

October 21st, Wed. 16:00~17:30

Institute for Global Area Studies, Room 427

- 40 years after the entry into force of the United Nations Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women (CEDAW)
- The crucial role played by universities in translating international legal commitments into concrete gender equality practices
- The threefold mission of the university system: fostering gender-responsive research, embedding gender-inclusive curricula, and implementing structural governance reforms, such as Gender Equality Plans (GEPs) and gender budgeting

Speaker: Prof. Sara De Vido

(Ca' Foscari University of Venice)

Moderator: Rin Odawara (TUFS)

Language: English

INFO: Rin Odawara(小田原), rodawara@tufts.ac.jp

Hosted by IGA and Dual-degree MA program
'History in the public sphere' (HIPS)

