

Ministry of Foreign Affairs: Research Program on Diplomacy and Security Policy
"Trends in International Norms and Order: Challenges for Japan's Security Strategy"
"Theory and Practice of Conflict Resolution" Study Group (FY2025), 2nd Meeting

Ripeness and MEO

(Mutually Enticing Opportunities)

Discussions

about

The Impacts of the Russo-Ukrainian War

Open to those pre-registered

To register,
please fill out this form
by noon 2 June (Mon.)

2025. 6.3 TUE

13:00 – 15:00

(Japan Standard Time)

✓ Online

Dr. Sinisa Vukovic, a leading expert in mediation studies from SAIS, will present on the theory of conflict mediation known as "Ripeness," developed by his former SAIS colleague William Zartman, as well as his own theoretical contribution, "MEO" (Mutually Enticing Opportunities). Following his presentation, members of the study group will discuss relevant sections of the co-authored volume The Impacts of the Russo-Ukrainian War, published in February 2025.

Co-authored publication

<https://link.springer.com/book/10.1007/978-981-96-2295-5>

Related article by the presenter

<https://www.tandfonline.com/doi/full/10.1080/17449057.2022.2004780>

Presenter

Dr. Sinisa Vukovic

Senior Lecturer, School of Advanced International Studies (SAIS), Johns Hopkins University, Washington, DC

Discussant

Professor Yuji Uesugi

Faculty of International Research and Education, Waseda University

Chair

Professor Hideaki Shinoda

Graduate School of Global Studies,
Tokyo University of Foreign Studies